Artwork by Platt College Students Exhibited at Central Library
Over 60 Works of Graphic Design Are on View

SAN DIEGO – The San Diego Public Library is hosting an exhibition of artwork by students from Platt College San Diego, a leading provider of degree and diploma programs in media arts, multimedia/animation design, graphic design, digital video production, and web design. The exhibition of over 60 pieces is on the second floor of the Central Library, located at 820 E Street in downtown San Diego, through the end of January 2009. It is free and open to the public during normal library hours.

An intriguing variety of works are on view, from fine art and prints to posters created using programs such as Quark, Adobe InDesign, Adobe Illustrator, and Photoshop. Many of the pieces reflect the dual responsibilities of a graphic designer: to provide the necessary information that must be relayed to the viewer, while also creating an interesting and attractive work of art.

About Platt College San Diego

Over two decades ago, Platt College was the first school in San Diego to open a computer graphics department. Today, it offers bachelor of science, associate of applied science, and diploma programs. Faculty members are working professionals in their fields, providing real-world perspective and industry standards in the classroom to prepare students for employment upon graduation. Platt College San Diego is accredited by the Accrediting Commission of Career Schools and Colleges of Technology.
